According to Raghavan Committee observations, ragging has several aspects including psychological, social, political, economic, cultural and academic dimensions.
- Anti-ragging committees and squads at the college level have been constituted to keep a check on the incidents of ragging. Every student as well as his parents/guardian is supposed to submit an affidavit that he/she or their ward will desist from ragging in any form. If found guilty, it may invite punishment upto expulsion from the institute or registration of F.I.R. under provisions of the Indian Penal Code.
